

STEAM Questions

---

1. Vermeer captures the body language of the young girl pictured. What is body language?
2. Name the facial features that are most effective at communicating messages. Give an example.
3. Scientific research has discovered we are born with the ability to communicate with body language. Name five different ways humans can use body language to communicate intent.
4. This painting was painted in 1665. Are the items of clothing typical of a young girl at that time? Do clothes along with body language communicate messages? Give an example of how clothes communicate a person's intent.
5. How is the young girl dressed differently from the young girls of her day and what were the messages communicated?

